Librarians in the News

by Shannon Roy, Editor

Tanya Ferguson is New Director at Toronto Public

Tanya Ferguson became the new Director of the Toronto Public Library in the second week in January, replacing Kristin Ramshaw. Tanya lives in the country outside of Toronto and had been in the area for about six years. Tanya is a potter and has art as a special interest.

"I'm enjoying this position very much," said Tanya. "The countryside in this area is so beautiful and Toronto is a lovely little community. I am really looking forward to being in the library during warmer weather. More tourists will come into the library during the summer months and it will be fun to talk to them."

Julia Kohler is New Director at Towanda Public

Julia started working at Towanda Public in April of 2002 and became the Director in October of 2005. She says she is enjoying the new position very much. Julia feels lucky to be in Towanda. She is a native of the community and her parents and grandparents are still there. Towanda is also comfortably close to Wichita. Julia, like many of her colleagues, loves to read.