

New Dodge City Director

Posted by Shannon Roy, Editor

The Dodge City Public Library wishes to welcome a new Director, Cathy Reeves, to the Dodge City Public Library staff. Cathy Reeves comes to the Dodge City Public Library after 25 years as the Learning Resource Center/Library Director at Dodge City Community College. Previous to that she was a school librarian in Newton, Kansas, and Gering, Nebraska.

Cathy is not new to Dodge City, but is certainly new to the library and will be a new face for patrons of the library to greet. As Director of the library, Cathy will not often be found at the checkout desk, but promises to be there on occasion to greet library patrons.

Cathy Reeves holds a Masters of Library Science from Emporia State University and has participated in many professional organizations including the Kansas Library Association, the American Library Association and sections of both associations. As part of her professional experience Cathy received the Distinguished Service Award presented by the Kansas College and University Library Organization in 1999, and the DCCC

Distinguished Program/Technical Staff Award in 2001.

In 2004 Cathy was involved with bringing the Great Plains Chautauqua to Dodge City. Most recently, she has been the Storyteller at the Prime Time Family Reading Time[®] program. Prime Time Family Reading Time[®] is a program for readers 6-10 years of age and their families, which started August 22 and will run through the end of September on Tuesday evenings.
