

Kitten's First Full Moon

By: Kevin Henkes

Believing the moon is really a bowl of milk, kitten sets out on a journey to find – and enjoy – that bowl of milk.

ACTIVITY: As you read your child or children this much beloved book, discuss with them what the kitten seems to be feeling on each page. Acting out a story helps build a child's comprehension and strengthens their recall of the sequence of events in a story.

Matching Feelings Game: Find other pictures of people in a magazine or even a newspaper that show emotion, like the pictures below. Allow your child to match the words to the correct picture and then they can act out what that emotion may look like, let them look in a mirror as they try to .

surprised

scared

sad

Dramatic Play: Fantasy-Let your child or children act out the part of the cat in Kitten's First Full Moon, allowing children to explore fantasy opens up creativity and retelling the story will allow them to recall the sequence of activities in this story.
